Greetings from The Bulldog Café

A Note from the Chef Erin

Hello! My name is Erin Bailey, “Chef Erin”, to the kids. I’m mom to Hugh, Bobby and Pete Sansone (4th grade) and I’m managing the St. Bart’s school kitchen and lunch program this year.

I’m an art school graduate of the U of MN, a culinary school graduate of Le Cordon Bleu, Paris, and have an MBA from Cornell University’s Hotel School. I bring 25 years of experience working in fine dining in cities from San Francisco to Chicago to New York, plus Sydney, Australia. I love to chat with others about memorable food experiences. Please share yours any time. After owning a specialty foods/catering/retail store, I closed it in 2009 when my first son was born. Since then, I’ve been cooking for my growing boys and running our family business, Kitchen Space; a shared commercial kitchen that serves local food artisans in SW Minneapolis.

I am passionate about sourcing and providing the highest quality food for your kiddos. While we are working with a school lunch caterer, we’re also incorporating in-house specials on the Bulldog Café menu. All specials are made in-house and sourced with organic and/or local ingredients. They’ve been a huge hit and it is my goal to offer more specials as our program evolves!

You are welcome to reach out if you ever have questions, concerns or feedback regarding our lunch program. ebailey@st-barts.org.
